He Was Then Intoxicated and in Search of Work - Theory is That He Was Drowned.

The dead body of a man whose identity had not been established up to a late hour this afternoon, was found in Parley's creek this morning at a point known as Decker's place, about one mile up the canyon from the Portland Cement company's quarry. The body was discovered by a section hand who had gone down to the creek for bucket of water, and immediately on its discovery word was communicated to the county attorney's office in this city and later Deputy Sheriff Joe Raleigh, accompanied by Undertaker Watson, went up to investigate. The found the body as had been reported, and had it removed to the Watson undertaking parlors where it now is. undertaking parlors where it now is.

There was nothing on the person of the dead man to indicate who he was or where he came from. Mr. Varley, manager of the Cement company's quarry, says the man came into the canyon last Saturday. He was then somewhat under the influence of liquor and made, application for a job. He

HOLD-UP AT OGDEN. Thugs Knock Victim Down-Death of Miss Ethel Harris.

[Special to the "News."] Ogden, Oct. 16 .- About 11 o'clock last night William Hanson reported to the police that he had been held up about a half hour before by two masked men near the stockwards in the Union depot grounds. Hanson, so he said, had just arrived from the west on a freight train, and while walking toward the depot two masked men stopped him and commanded him to hold up his hands. Instead of obeynig the com-mand, however, he dealt one of the mand, however, he dealt one of the cobbers a blow in the face, which laid olm out. Robber No. 2 came back at Mr. Hanson with a club, dealing him a severe blow on the back of the head and putting him to sleep for a time. A deep gash was made in Mr. Hanson's head, from which the blood flowed profusely. Fortunately at this juncture some railroad men came along and the footpads scampered off in the

MOFFAT'S STATEMENT. Public Offering of Stock and Bonds

Takes Place on Tuesday. Denver, Oct. 15.—David H. Moffat, president of the First National bank of president of the First National bank of Denver and president and principal promoter of the proposed Denver, Northwestern & Pacific railway, who has just returned from New York, where he has been in connection with financing of the company, issued the following signed statement for publication tonight:

"You may say as coming from me that I have presented the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific railway enterprise to prominent men in New York, and New England, and that I have the direct pledge of their assistance in se-curing the funds to build the railway. "On the 21st inst. we will make a public offering of stock and bonds in the principal cities of the country on such attractive terms that we believe will secure the necessary money to construct the railway to Salt Lake City. The terms of the subscription will be made public at that time; that is, on the 21st inst. The offer to the public to receive subscriptions will be made through the International Trust company in Denver; the Providence Bank-ing company in Providence, R. I.; the Commercial Trust company in Phila-delphia, and the Mercantile Trust company in New York City, and the institutions will furnish data and informa-tion connected with the financial plan.

(Signed.) "D. H. MOFFAT."
It is unofficially stated that the terms to be offered will be $50 worth of stock as a bonus with every $100 worth of bonds purchased at par. This cannot be confirmed at the present time.

CRAZY PASSENGER. Jumps from Train and Races Across The Desert.

Passengers on the second section of No. 5 of the Southern Pacific train experienced a lively time the day before vesterday with a crazy man. It appears that a passenger in the smoking car began to show signs of insanity soon after leaving Ogden and by the time the train reached Kelton about 4:30 in the afternoon he was yelling that someone was determined to kill In order to keep him from jumping off the train four men proceeded to nang on to him like leeches. Later the man tore off his coat and succeeded in getting away. He regained his feet, ran across the desert in the direction of the hills. The train was stopped and backed into Kelton, where his bag-gage and coat were put off, while the conductor made arrangements to dispatch some horsemen after the unfor-tunate fellow whose identity was un-

Steel Rail Shortage.

Announcement was recently made that the Southern Pacific company had gone abroad looking for 40,000 tons of steel rails. This is only one of several large orders that lately have sought foreign manufacturers. It is estimated that the orders on the books of the varlous companies now aggregate 2,000,00 tons, says the Railroad and Engineering Review. All concerns are so badly crowded with business that they can-not undertake to deliver rails on new contracts sooner than October, 1993.
Notwithstanding that the companies are booked to their maximum capacity for the remainder of this year and the first three-quarters of next year it is said that but few mills are running full time. Their operations are hampered by the lack of transportation facilities. A representative of a New York firm of metallurgists who has just returned
